

THE DAILY DRIBBLER

APATHETICALLY SERVING HUMANITY AND PUDDLETOWN SINCE 1957

JKL Barbero, Publisher

Knitting Society

Mulva Owens Cockburn demos a method for creating lovely replacement lawn chair fabric using plastic grocery bags. Re-purposing at its most fashionable! Also, new lace patterns from Maison Givenchy.

C1

July 26, 2013

Politics

Bombings, drones, shooting, gangs, drugs, explosions, political coups, bribery, extortion, payola, pandering, threats and psychosis. DC Reporter E. Gomer Stanhope's weekly report from The Hill.

B1

Local Interest

There is still time to catch some fresh raspberries from Joe's Fram on 1122th Avenue. Don't forget, the standard Huckleberry Cake recipe is equally fantastic when you swap out razzies for hucks. Suh-weet!

Logan Konecki is offering kayaking lessons Saturday at Fish Hatchery Pond. Space is limited; please call ahead for reservations. 509-837-1293.

Abandoned Vehicle Auction Saturday. Check with Scrapers 4 You, 2201 Wilson Way. scrapers4u.com.

Births

July 3: a boy, Zakeri Kody Wolverine, 8 lbs, 9 oz, to Janelle Brown and Shane Moulton.

Divorce Petitions Filed

July 5: Zoraida Moulton, Petitioner, Shane Moulton, Respondent.

Amazing Book Sculptures

RYMES WITH MAGIC

Acquitted Killer Emerges From Hiding, Saves Family Seconds Later

Sanford, FL—Acquitted killer Zimbo Harrison, who went into hiding after being released from Gooberton County Jail, was on his way to the corner store for a bag of Skittles and a half rack of Corona when he and some other dude, name not noted because no one paid us to, happened upon an overturned SUV.

Harrison flew out of his vehicle, threw on his cape and with one hand tied behind him, beat back the crowd of Good Samaritans already assisting, righted the SUV and saved the Gerstle family from certain immediate death.

Marvin O'Mara, Harrison's attorney, requested that the Gerstles' privacy be respected, as they cannot be counted upon to recall the scripted details of the incident.

The Gerstles in their Ford SUV immediately prior to the crash

Multnomah County BOS Chair Ejected From Taxi, Unsure When He's On the Clock

Multnomah County BOS Chair Cogen with Extra-Über Qualified County Health Policy Director and Mistress Sonia Manhas

Boring, OR— Board of Supervisors Chair Jeff Cogen, who Thursday survived a vote for his ouster by casting the sole dissenting vote, was recently ejected from a Puddletown Cab when the driver observed him receiving more than a simple "oral statement" in what Cogen now claims was a job interview. "How do I not deserve a second chance? I'm just trying to save the county money by multi-tasking and finding positions for Multnomians I see when I'm out and about. Greater good of the county, people. I'm saving you money!" The driver, Aaron Klein, previously owner of Sweetcakes Bakery in Gresham, was forced to sell the business when civil suits over his discriminatory practices toward the LGBT community poured in. Ironically, many of Puddletown's gay community are heavy taxi users. "Icky sex is icky sex, whether you're a lesbo or the county board chair," Klein said. "My god considers spilled seed a sin, and I refuse to be a party to it."